MR. ARTHUR REID who will preside at corner-stone laying ceremony on afternoon of Remembrance Day, Wed. Nov. 11

Corner Stone Laying of New School

Arranged for Afternoon of Remembrance Day—Mr. George Kellock Will Declare Stone "Well and Truly Laid."

A tentative program, subject to revision, also weather conditions permitting, has been arranged by the school trustees, and announced by Mr. Arthur Reid, chairman of the board.

The ceremony will open at 2 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 11, to which the public are invited. School children with their teachers will be assembled on Second street, as the stone will be laid in the southwest corner of the building. The program will open with the singing of "O Canada." Taking part besides the clergy, will be Mr. George Kellock, who has been invited by the trustees to perform the official laying of the stone; Mayor Pattinson, and Mr. Arthur Reid, and the trustees and members of the council will occupy places on the stage where the ceremony is to take place.

Traffic will be stopped on Second street, so that the gathering will be free from interference and noise.

The silver trowel to be used, will be suitably inscribed and presented to Mr. Kellock by the chairman of the board. Inside the stone will be placed the names of the trustees, the secretary, the mayor and council, the teaching staff, the architect and the contractor, the minister of education, current coins of the realm and a current copy of the Coleman Journal.

Coleman High School Named By Trustees

No Names Accepted From Those Submitted—Journal Readers May Ballot to Decide Prize-Winner

Though 30 school pupils sent in names for the new school, the trustees decided not to accept any. As the building is to be used for high school classes only, it was decided to name it Coleman High School.

However, in order to keep faith with the contestants, it has been decided to ask Journal readers to vote on the name they think the most appropriate. It will not be used by the trustees, but the prize originally offered, $5, will be given to the sender of the name receiving the most votes.

In another column is a coupon which readers may fill in and mail or leave at The Journal office. These coupons will be received up till Nov. 30 following which the prize will be awarded to the winner.

Names submitted in the new school naming contest were—Strathcona, Rocky Mountain, Fairview, King Edward, Reid school, Townsite, Fair Mount, Mount View, King Edward VIII, Graham school, Coleman Collegiate Institute, The Patford school, Progressive, Nez Perce, Coronation, Powell school, Coleman Coronation Collegiate, Coleman Academy, Crows Nest school, Mount View Collegiate, The Annex school, King George V, Coleman Grand Pass, King George Memorial school.

Frank Creggan to Medicine Hat

Many Friendships Formed During Seven Years Residence in Coleman—Active in Sport Circles

Mr. Creggan has been notified of his transfer from the Canadian Bank of Commerce here to Medicine Hat branch, and with Mrs. Creggan and children will leave, it is expected, during the coming week. His place here will be taken by Mr. G. C. A. Nurcombe of Medicine Hat, and the latter with his wife will take over the house vacated by the Creggans.

It is seven years since Mr. Creggan came here, and he has been active in hockey club management, an ardent curler, and has been a member of the vestry of St. Alban's church. Many friends will regret his leaving. Owing to Mrs. Creggan's health a change of altitude was recommended, otherwise it is understood that they would like to have remained in Coleman.

A farewell gathering is planned in honor of Mr. Creggan, and Mrs. Creggan has been similarly honored by many of her friends. Good wishes will follow them to their new home.

Life-like photo of famous flyer, whose Lockheed-Electra 12-passenger plane of Canadian Airways has been grounded at Coleman Intermediate Airdrome since Oct. 27 awaiting new propeller blades to replace those damaged when the retracting gear failed to function properly on landing. Mr. Hollick-Kenyon has been engaged in experimental flights over the mountains in connection with radio signalling installations at various airfields, the plane having been chartered by the Department of Civil Aviation, Ottawa. Among his more famous flights is that made to the Antarctic continent as pilot for Lincoln Ellsworth, American explorer. They spent Christmas Day in Little America, locating one of Admiral Byrd's camps, and were subsequently picked up by the Australian government ship "Discovery." The above photo was taken beside the Canadian Airways plane, bearing the Canadian government official crest.

New propeller blades are expected here on Monday.

Musical Festival Well Attended

Keen Disappointment Over Bands Not Playing at Closing Session—Calgary Band Did Not Arrive

With a record number of entries, and slightly increased gate receipts over 1935, the 12th annual festival closed at midnight on Wednesday. In a brief interview this morning Mrs. Farmer, secretary, stated that despite the large number competing, the programs had gone on smoothly. Disappointment was expressed over West Canadian Band not playing. They withdrew when it was found they were not to play till very late Wednesday, as it is reported several members had to go on night work.

Those who helped in the work of the festival were J. E. Upton, president; Mrs. Steeves, press correspondent; Miss Marion McDonald, assistant to the adjudicator; Mrs. L. L. Morgan, music; Miss Beatrice Trono, stage manager; Mrs. Richard Large, announcements and bulletin board; W. H. Chappell, manager of box office; Robert Gray, who supervised the seating and ushers. Kimberley and Fernie brass bands played in Wednesday afternoon's program, and Vulcan Concert Orchestra and Crows Nest Pass Orchestra were the highlights of the evening, with Fernie choir under Mr. Beynon.

Since last year's ceremony, Mr. Dunlop has passed on, but it is understood it is Mrs. Dunlop's wish that this touching service of remembrance should be held as usual.

Remembrance Day Parade and Service

Coleman Will Honor Empire's War Dead in Impressive Service on Wednesday.

Those taking part in the parade, ex-service men, Boy Scouts, Girl Guides and others, should be ready at the town hall at 10.30 a.m. on Wednesday, Nov. 11. Bandmaster Fred Beddington has arranged for the band to attend, and a detachment of the R. C. M. P. under Staff Sergeant Cawsey will head the parade, duties permitting.

The service will start at 10.45, the main address will be given by Rev. H. J. Bevan, and the prayers and lesson will be read by Rev. A. S. Partington and Captain Fitch, of the Salvation Army.

The program will conform as closely as possible to the official Remembrance Day service as arranged by the Dominion Command of the Canadian Legion, details of which were published in last week's issue.

It is requested that all who are taking part and those occupying seats on the stage as representatives of local organizations be in place a few minutes before the opening of the service at 10.45.

Last Post and Reveille will be sounded by Constable A. R. Foster, R.C.M.P.

The general public are invited to attend and join in the service.

COMING EVENTS

The Wheat Problem

What to do about wheat is the greatest poser facing the Western Canadian farmer, not only for the immediate present, but for the long range future. Should he grow more, or should he grow less, or perchance, should he forget about wheat and turn his attention to other crops and other activities?

It is safe to say that this problem causes more sleepless nights on the Western Canadian prairies than anything else. It is probably not far from the truth to say that the question is uppermost in the mind of the average tiller of the soil the greater part of his waking hours and that during the night it perturbs his slumbers.

The farmer seeking the solution of the problem can get plenty of data which has a bearing on the subject and a plethora of advice without going far afield for it, but unfortunately for him and for his peace of mind so many complications are involved in the answer to the question and so many, so diverse and contradictory are the replies that the greater his research, the greater must be his confusion and the farther he is away from a conclusive solution.

To solve the problem with even a remote degree of assurance, the interrogator must not only be in possession of an immense amount of current available information but he must also be something of a prophet. He must be able to peer into the crystal of the future and divine what is ahead.

As there are no infallible methods of determining the unknown factors of production and marketing he must make his guess as best he can and shape his course accordingly.

If he guesses right and successfully runs the gamut of early and late frosts, grasshoppers, wire worms, cutworms, thistles and other noxious weeds, windstorms and hail, rust and other blight and pulls off a crop, he is faced with the possibility that it may be a drug on the market and that the reward of his labors may be little better than zero.

Added to all these and many other unrecorded uncertainties and handicaps comes a new threat to the existence of cereal farming as it is practiced on the prairies in the form of grain produced on an intensive scale under factory conditions and without the use of soil as a medium, a method discovered by two Englishmen after four and a half years of research and now being tested on a commercial basis.

To quote a Magazine Digest summary of an article appearing in the Sunday Express of London, "the inventors claim that under their scheme which they call 'cabinet culture', one acre of floor space is equal to 1,700 acres of grass land; sixpenny worth of seed will grow 200 hundredweight of green fodder; one crop of fodder can be produced per day instead of one per year; a farmer feeding intensively cultivated corn instead of dry grass and his livestock will save $2.50 on every pig brought to bacon weight, $5 on every bullock, and from 15 to 20 per cent on milk production because they will be eating young, fresh food instead of old or dried grass which has been weakened of its vitamins.

"The inside of the cabinet contains trays of each year with corn in a different stage of growth. To-day's tray holds seed. Yesterday's shows the white shoots. The shoots are larger and larger up to the tenth day when the fodder is full grown and ready to be taken out and eaten.

"There is no soil. On top of the cabinet is a tank full of water containing a small proportion of a chemical solution. The chemicals are those of which the soil consists. Enough solution to last a month costs $3.75.

"In the bottom of the cabinet are small trays. For three minutes every 24 hours a tap is turned on and the tank drops 'rain' on to the top layer of trays. By the tenth day the growth can be lifted out of the tray like a grass-grown mat. The animals eat every scrap of it and the tray is left perfectly clean. There is no earth or dirt of any kind in the whole process."

"Animals fed on these intensive crops can be kept in yards or barns."

It is reported that already efforts are being made to establish an agency and import some of these "factory-farms" to Western Canada.

If the inventors' claims for this method of growing crops can be demonstrated as commercially feasible and economical no doubt the next step will be to improve the system to enable it to bring wheat to maturity, and if that can be done with success one wonders what will happen to the wide expanse of grain fields which constitute such a large section of the prairie provinces and what will happen to the investment in capital and labor which the farmers have sunk in hundreds of thousands of acres.

There is just one consolation for the prairie farmer and that is the fact that the scheme has not been proven a commercial possibility. Quod erat demonstrandum.

Good Habit To Cultivate

Children Should Be Taught Kindness To Dumb Creatures

Victor Hugo says of that bishop whom all readers of "Les Misérables" will never forget, "he sprained his ankle once trying to avoid stepping on an ant." He belonged to the order of those who would not "needlessly set foot upon a worm." This attitude toward life, even when we meet it in its lowliest forms, can be cultivated in children if parents start early enough. If there are harmful creatures whose meaning we cannot understand and which must be destroyed, let the destruction be without unnecessary suffering and never in the spirit of cruelty.—Our Dumb Animals.

Man With Dual Brain

Can Do Two Entirely Different Things At Once

There is a man in Sydney, N.S.W., who can do two entirely different things at once, and do them well. He is Stirling Wilkinson, known to his friends as the man with the "dual brain."

Among other accomplishments, he can write different words and sentences simultaneously with both hands. He can write the same word backwards. He can also do two separate drawings at the same time.

As a bookkeeper he will be particularly envied as he can make simultaneous entries—the figures with one hand and the items with the other.

Wilkinson says that he was born that way. As a child, he found that he was writing backwards with his left hand—to the discomfort of his teachers, who had to use a mirror to read his writing. Specialists who examined him, decided that he had a disease of the brain. To induce correct writing with the right hand, they strapped his left arm to his body.

When he entered college, he jealously guarded his secret. After a time, he committed some misdemeanor and was given 400 lines to write. By using both hands at once he completed the task in half the time taken by the other boys. The astonished master accused him of having another boy to help him, and then Wilkinson had to explain his ability to do two things at once. After that his detention was double that of the other boys.

Home Improvement Plan

Unemployed Building Trades Workers Can Look About For Work

The government's new home improvement plan will give the unemployed building trades workers a chance to approach his problem of finding a job in an entirely new way. It was stated at the national employment commission.

The commission suggested out-of-work members of building trades unions can now look about them, find homes in need of repairs, estimate the cost of making improvements and tell the owner how much money he needs and how he can get it. In the case of farmers, there is nothing to prevent them borrowing money to buy materials and doing the work themselves.

Under the regulations, money will be loaned on the basis of character and income. A farmer who can fulfill these requirements to the satisfaction of his bank manager will be in a position to borrow money for the purchase of materials no matter whether he does the work himself or hires labor to do it. While the home improvement plan is basically designed to provide employment, the purchase of materials by the farmer, even if he does the work himself, will be considered by the commission, accomplish this purpose.

Long Patrol Ends

Ship That Guides Navigation Through Northern Channels, Completes Work For Season

The N. B. McLean, snub-nosed ice-breaker which guides navigation through channels leading to Canada's most northerly seaport of Churchill, slipped quietly into harbor at Quebec recently, completing her seasonal patrol of the northern seas.

For almost three and a half months she plowed the Hudson Straits, guiding 15 vessels through the narrows, and to and from the Manitoba port. During that time she saw one wreck; saw the freighter Avon River, disabled in a gale, washed ashore. The storm, last September, raged for three days and the McLean stood by the helpless grain carrier 48 hours before attempting to rescue the crew and later place them aboard the steamship Pirby.

From remote points in the north, the McLean brought back eight wireless operators, stationed for a year at their lonely outposts.

She also brought back Gabriel Behant, 23-year-old boatwain from the Charles L.D., stricken by appendicitis as the French freighter made her way up the straits. The French seaman was brought aboard the McLean, and Dr. Fernand Lizotte performed an emergency operation in his cabin.

The patient was reported recovered and it was expected he would leave shortly for France.

At lonely Sugluk harbor, in the straits, the McLean put in to provide medical treatment for more than a score of Eskimos, stricken by influenza.

Four of the group died before the vessel arrived, but Dr. Lizotte reported recovery of the others after medical treatment.

Relief Running Wild

Town In Eastern Ontario Has Grant Heavily Reduced

Provincial relief grants to the town of Hawkesbury, in eastern Ontario, will be reduced nearly $3,500, because investigation of relief administration had shown "another municipality squandering provincial funds on unneeded assistance," Welfare Minister Croll announced.

"The town seems to have been running wild in relief administration in the easy confidence we'd foot the bills," he said. "They're in for a job. Every misspent cent will be charged back to their own taxpayers."

Some relief recipients were driving their own cars, the minister said. An investigator found people operating their own businesses on relief, offering unfair competition to rivals. Investigators found a number of instances where people closed out bank accounts to go on relief.

Roundup Of Reindeer

Thirty Thousand Reindeer To Be Earmarked In Alaska

A roundup of 30,000 reindeer, one of the largest in Alaskan history, was planned by a United States official.

For the purpose of slaughtering some, earmarking and caring for the health of others, great caravans will be built 60 miles inland, from Point Barrow.

The deer will be counted and marked after they have been herded by the Eskimos from the Arctic plains for hundreds of miles around.

Instead of branding the reindeer, the Eskimo will mark yearlings and fawns with various shaped silts and knife nicks in the ears.

Presents Family Cradle

The cradle bought at Morley, Eng., 84 years ago for Herbert Henry Asquith, early war premier who became Lord Oxford and Asquith, has been presented to Morley by Henry Asquith, one of three generations of the family who have used the cradle, his father and his own daughter having been rocked in it. The gift has been accepted by the mayor.

Fighting Planes For Canada

Royal Canadian Air Force Receiving Equipment From England

The Royal Canadian Air Force now is receiving new equipment recently purchased in England at a total cost of more than $500,000. Two of seven Shark bombing planes have arrived and are now being assembled at the Rockcliffe airfield and the other five are on the way. These machines cost $64,800 each.

The bombers might be said to be the first real war machines bought by Canada since the Great War. They are the latest type of fighting machine and similar to many purchased by the British government recently. With a maximum speed of 175 miles per hour they are capable of staying seven hours in the air. In addition to the bombers 10 planes are being made for the force at Fort Erie, Ont., at a cost of about $2,000 each. They will be used for training of beginners in the force.

Cause Of Cataracts Unknown

Certain Food Extracts Said To Have Effect On Eye Malady

The cause of cataracts, which has baffled the medical world for centuries, was believed to be a step nearer solution by the discovery by Dr. Agnes Fay Morgan, chairman of the department of household science at the University of California; and Beattie B. Cook, a graduate student, that certain food extracts have a material effect on the eye malady.

In a report to the society for experimental biology, Dr. Morgan said her experiments showed that presence of lactose or galactose in the intestine, and frequent gastro-intestinal absorption difficulties associated with a deficiency of vitamin G offer a possible common attack on the problem.

"In lactose and low vitamin G diet tests, there was a hundred per cent. incidence of cataract," the report said. "Likewise the lactose fed controls grew at about 60 per cent. of a group of cornstarch fed controls."

Dr. Morgan said the cause of cataracts is still unknown but that the determination of the cause has moved a step in advance in the possible future prevention of the disorder.

Mussolini Proclaims Armed Peace Instead Of Collective Security

Milan, Italy.—Premier Mussolini declared conflict between Great Britain and Italy would lead to a general European war, offered to exchange pledges to respect each nation's rights and proclaimed an "armed peace" rather than the "illusions" of disarmament and collective security.

Half a million citizens jammed great Cathedral square to cheer the fascist dictator, returned to the cradle of his creed to herald the beginning of his 15th year of power with the declaration:

"What's done is done!"
And for the future:
"Peace with all both near and far. Armed peace!"

"Our program of armaments for sea, land and sky will be regularly developed."

"Our protective capacity, agricultural and industrial, will be accelerated. The corporate system will be further developed."

"He saw the League of Nations 'shipwrecked by Wilsonian ideology,' which he asserted was the philosophy inspiring 'the illusion of disarmament.'"

"The league must renew itself or perish," but so far as Italy is concerned "the league may perish," he asserted.

Italy is willing to complete a pact with Great Britain mutually recognizing each other's rights. Mussolini said, but Britain must recognize what has been achieved in Ethiopia and elsewhere.

Any bilateral conflict between the two nations, the fascist leader continued, would lead to European conflict.

"He declared Italy would neither 'menace' the Mediterranean route nor 'interrupt it.'"

"It is necessary for us to realize what is done is done and is irrevocable—the sooner the better."

And it is necessary, he said, that Italy little by little develop the thought Italy is an insular nation.

"Because this is the only method of putting the problems of the naval defence of the nation in their true light."

"Italy is an island rising in the Mediterranean."

Of the League of Nations, and sanctions, he said:

"We have not forgotten and we will not forget that the League of Nations organized with diabolical diligence the iniquitous siege against the Italian people."

New Leader

Saskatchewan Conservatives Select J. G. McFenbaker At Regina Meeting

Regina.—Saskatchewan Conservatives named J. G. McFenbaker, K.C., 40-year-old Prince Albert barrister, their provincial party leader.

One of the youngest to be named leader to the Conservative party in Saskatchewan, Mr. McFenbaker, 40, places at the head of his party Dr. J. T. M. Anderson, Saskatoon, former premier, whose resignation was received by the convention in Regina city hall.

Royal Commission To Investigate Source Of Arab-Jewish Unrest

London.—Twenty-eight British soldiers and police were among the 309 persons slain during Palestine's many months of disorders, which came to an end two weeks ago, Colonial Secretary William Ormsby-Gore informed the House of Commons.

Persons wounded in the disorders numbered 1,182, he said. Now that comparative calm has been restored, the royal commission of inquiry will proceed to the Holy Land to investigate the source of Arab-Jewish unrest and British garrisons in the country will be reduced, he added.

R. A. Butler, under-secretary for India, said in reply to a question that 60 persons were killed and 500 wounded in the recent Bombay Moslem-Hindu riots, which he described as "essentially communal" in character.

Asked whether tear gas was used to quell the trouble, Butler replied:

Cyclone Hits Airport

Workmen Are Injured In High Wind At Trenton, Ont.

Trenton, Ont.—More than a dozen workmen were injured, one critically, when a 70-mile-an-hour twister screamed over the Royal Canadian Air Force airport, a mile from here.

Abraham Hagerman, Trenton, is in Bellevue hospital with terrible head injuries. He is not expected to survive.

Harman Young, Bellevue; William Labadie, Windsor, Ont.; Simon Keegan, Harold Court, Gerald Goodwin and George Rosenplot, all of Trenton, are also in Bellevue hospital less seriously hurt.

Damage in the cyclone was confined almost entirely to the airport grounds in a strip 75 yards wide and a mile and a quarter long.

Every tree and post in the storm area was levelled and all buildings damaged extensively. Damage is estimated at $25,000.

The storehouse, boiler room, southern wall of No. 3 hangar, cook house and parts of the administration building were levelled. No aircraft were damaged.

Telephone emergency crews were working to untangle the wreckage of poles and wires in the mile-long stretch.

There are about 1,500 men of the R.C.A.F. stationed at the airport, according to Wing Commander C. B. Johnson, in charge.

Tim Buck On Parole

Reported He Will Be Arrested If He Returns To Canada

Toronto.—Tim Buck, Canadian Communist leader, will be arrested for alleged breach of parole if he returns to Canada from a European tour, the Globe says.

"Buck," the paper says, "is reported to have left Toronto last July for Germany when last heard of was in Spain. The Communist leader was paroled from Kingston penitentiary Nov. 24, 1934, and was to report to the authorities once a month until the spring of 1937."

He was convicted under section 88 of the criminal code and sentenced to five years in Kingston penitentiary. Following the penitentiary riots he was given an additional nine months' term for participating in the Kingston riots in which Buck charged guards had fired at him in his cell.

"Inquiries in Toronto and at Ottawa failed to show any record of Buck having had his parole reported cancelled and therefore he was not entitled to leave the country until his ticket-of-leave expired. Royal Canadian Mounted police are handling the case since the parole board is a federal matter."

"Inquiries in Toronto and at Ottawa failed to show any record of Buck having had his parole reported cancelled and therefore he was not entitled to leave the country until his ticket-of-leave expired. Royal Canadian Mounted police are handling the case since the parole board is a federal matter."

Alberta By-Election

Edmonton.—By-election in the provincial constituency of Grouard was ordered in an Alberta writ which set the vote for the "Nominations" to be filed Nov. 20. By-election was necessitated by the death in September of L. A. Giroux, K.C., Liberal member, who held the seat since 1924.

Debt Conversion

Quebec House Passes Measure Sponsored By Provincial Treasurer

Quebec.—Conversion of part if not the entire debt of the province of Quebec was authorized in a measure sponsored by Provincial Treasurer Martin B. Fisher and adopted on division by the Quebec legislature.

The measure did not mean the government would immediately convert the provincial debt, Premier Maurice Duplessis said in explaining the bill. He said it gave the government power to do so if desired and at the same time enabled it to secure advantage of lower money rates.

The bill had a three-fold purpose, said the premier. The legislation first authorized the lieutenant-governor-in-council to change the form of any part of the existing public debt of the province by substituting one class of securities for another, provided the capital of the debt is not increased.

Provision was made, the premier asserted, for the substitution of securities that could be effected without the consent of the holder or unless the security is redeemed by the government.

Under limits of the bill, loans are restricted to a term not exceeding 30 years, and an interest rate not exceeding four per cent.

National Defence

Reorganization Of Militia To Be Completed Soon

Ottawa.—Reorganization of the non-permanent active militia is expected to be completed about the beginning of December; and from the first of that month all units in the 11 military districts will be on the new basis. This was learned at defence headquarters.

On the broader aspects of national defence, the much discussed proposals for an increased navy and substantial enlargement of the Royal Canadian Air Force, officials are reticent. Despatches from abroad representing Prime Minister Mackenzie King as returning to Canada with details of a new defence scheme based on a co-ordinated empire policy drew from them no comment.

Militia reorganization, however, was within the authority of those directing the task and, it was said, having regard to the new technique of war, was long overdue. Following the war the composition of the Canadian militia was studied and some recommendations made; but for the most part these remained only on paper.

How Wars Are Won

Does Not Think That Next War Will Be Fought In The Air

Chicago.—The next war, General Frank Parker, retired, predicted, "will begin in the mud and end in the mud, despite claims made by proponents of military aviation."

The general, who ended 46 years of United States army service last Sept. 30, was unimpressed by the theory that the next conflict would be fought in the air. He was unmoved by stories of death rays and virulent new poison gases.

"We who have studied military tactics know that wars are won by capturing and holding territory. For this purpose nothing has yet been devised to supersede infantry supported by artillery," he said.

Belgian Fascists

Want Belgium To Withdraw From League Of Nations

Brussels.—Belgian Fascists and Flemish Nationalists, opponents of Premier Paul Van Zeeland's government, demanded that Belgium announce its withdrawal from the League of Nations.

Their proposal came after a speech by Foreign Minister Paul Henry Spaak which those groups contended was a recession from the 'neutrality' policy recently pronounced by King Leopold.

Spaak described Belgium's new foreign policy as "complete independence without returning to our pre-war foundation of complete neutrality." It could not be adhered to, he asserted, unless parliament provided extraordinary appropriations for military expenses.

The Redists, a Fascist organization headed by Leon Degrelle, called the "Hitler of Belgium," and the Flemish Nationalists, whose sympathies are strongly pro-German, declared Spaak had back-tracked on the king's statement the nation should refrain from collective security and the army should be reorganized only for protecting Belgium from invaders.

Would Amend Criminal Code

Montreal Judge Thinks Time Has Come For Reform

Montreal.—The time has come, Judge Amedee Monet believes, for amendments to the Criminal Code.

"Very often the law is the judge, and not the judge sitting on the bench in certain cases," he said. The Criminal Code calls for a sentence of not less than three years in penitentiary for a man convicted of stealing 25 cents from a letter, yet provides a sentence of not more than three years for defrauding a widow of her last $10,000.

Will Have Holiday

London.—British school children were promised a holiday on coronation day, May 12. An announcement from Buckingham palace said "His Majesty the King has expressed the hope his coronation may be marked by an extra holiday for the boys and girls of all schools."

Home Improvement Plan In Operation Across The Dominion

Debt Plan For Manitoba

To Relieve Debt Burdens In The Drouth Area

Melita, Man.—Joint proposals of the Manitoba government and mortgage loan companies for relieving debt burdens in the province's drouth area were outlined by Premier Bracken to a conference of government and municipality representatives here.

The government, he said, will wipe out entirely the total drouth area relief debt of $1,200,000 up to last April 30 and assume one-third the losses on seed grain loans this year.

Mortgage loan companies will reduce interest to six per cent, and cancel all unpaid interest up to January, 1935, the premier told the conference, attended by representatives of 13 southwestern Manitoba municipalities.

The amount owing on mortgages on Jan. 1, 1937, will be consolidated with the principal and the consolidated amount paid over a 10-year period.

Dealing with proposals of the Mortgage Loan Association, Mr. Bracken said the plan was similar to that recently announced in Saskatchewan. The principal will be paid annually with the balance due in the 10th year.

During the first three years the payment of principal and interest will be secured by one-third of the crop. In cases where one-third of the crop failed to equal the amount of the annual payment, it was explained, the time for payment will be extended until the next due date.

Russians Sent To Jail

Film Trust Executives Convicted Of Wasting State Money

Moscow.—Three executives who "went Hollywood" in Russia were sentenced to labor camps.

The men, former executives of the Eastern Film Trust, were convicted of frittering away state money for the production of movies.

The manager was sentenced to serve four years, the director to one and a bookkeeper to one.

The accused men were charged with purchasing a bad scenario, countenancing excessive production expense, and with wasting money searching for talent.

Ottawa.—Across Canada, the home improvement plan of the national employment commission begins operation this week.

Canadian banks in the larger centres will receive applications for loans from home owners who have decided to make repairs and improvements. The money will be loaned on the applicant's note without endorsement.

Since the plan was announced by Hon. C. A. Dunning, minister of finance, and Arthur R. Purvis, chairman of the commission, much preparatory work has been done. Special forms have been prepared, printed and circulated to bank branches all over the country.

Extensive efforts preparatory to a national co-operative campaign have been made. Arrangements have been entered into for dissemination of information on all phases of the plan.

Loans up to $2,000 for a maximum period of three years may be made under the plan. A home owner of good character, with an income, simply applies to his bank manager, stating the amount he wants and the purpose for which he proposes to use it.

His note is the only security required. No endorsement will be asked. He must, however, use the money for the purpose stated. Farmers come in on the same basis as home owners. It is a form of borrowing, the money to be paid back on the instalment plan.

In terms of discount and interest, the charge is 3 1/2 per cent. discount on a one-year loan repayable in monthly instalments. This is the same as 6.32 per cent. per annum interest.

For example, on his note for $100—drawn for a year, the borrower receives $96.75. He will pay back the loan in 12 instalments of $8.34 each.

On a two-year note of $100, the borrower will get $94 and pay back 24 instalments of $4.17 each.

The plan was made possible by an arrangement between the government and banks under which the former guarantees the latter against losses up to 15 per cent. on the aggregate value of loans.

Resume Inquiry In West

Ottawa.—The royal commission on penitentiaries will resume its inquiries in western Canada in about 10 days.

No Cause To Modify The British Policy On Non-Intervention

London.—Prime Minister Baldwin declared in the House of Commons that there had been some breaches of the Spanish non-intervention agreement on both sides, but they were not of sufficient importance to cause a change in British policy.

In his first appearance since his illness, the prime minister wound up the debate.

"The general impression the government has formed," he said, "is that there have been some breaches and arms have been sent to both sides. But they have not been near sufficiently important to cause us to modify our policy in regard to non-intervention."

Mr. Baldwin then began to discuss Communism and Fascism.

"Thank God, as far as Britain is concerned, these two forces are not worth that," he declared, snapping his fingers.

The difference between democracy and autocracies, he said, was that the former advertises its troubles to the world.

"Under authoritarianism," he added, "we have to guess their troubles. Our system is the healthier, notwithstanding incidents like the Nuffield controversy, where the differences were broadest—exaggeratedly in authoritarian states."

Attacking Communism, the prime minister said it will neither brook, realize, understand nor allow any fact that clashes with what it wants to believe. Moreover, he declared, it bred Fascism.

In the course of the debate, the Labor and Liberal spokesmen, Arthur Greenwood and Sir Archibald Sinclair, respectively, both demanded to know what was happening in the Balearic Islands where the Italians were said to be securing control.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden defended the Portuguese government against Russian charges of Spanish neutrality violation.

"No violation of the policy of the Soviet charges against the Portuguese government has been proved," he told the house.

"The chief complaint against the workings of the non-intervention agreement is Soviet Russia," Eden continued, "which charges Portugal with infringement."

"We have no information whatsoever to support the Soviet charges. Nor has the non-intervention committee been able to support any single one of the Soviet charges against the Portuguese government."

Eden asserted Britain would hold fast to the non-intervention pact despite opposition from Labor groups.

"Supplies sent from this country," he said, "would not have had an important bearing on the result in Spain."

Turning to face Labor leaders who have pressed for direct aid, he declared:

"When you are asking is that the French and our own government, who worked all through the weeks of August and September to try to get the committee going, should destroy what has been done, and when they had destroyed it, Soviet Russia would be left master of the field."

"The government has no intention of lending itself to anything of this kind. The mere fact that all nations still are members of the committee still shows that Europe believes this non-intervention policy is the right policy to pursue."

NOTES AND COMMENTS

GUY FAWKES DAY, Nov. 5, brings to mind the plot to blow up the British Houses of Parliament, a couple of centuries or more ago. In those days if plotters did not like a government, they would try and upset it by fair means or foul. If caught, or unsuccessful, they would be lodged in the Tower or some other famous prison, and subsequently lose their heads on the chopping block. This grim relic of the days of Merrie England may still be seen in the Tower of London, with the axe and the executioner's mask beside it. That which impresses the young mind most are the marks in the block showing where the axe has descended clean through the hapless victims' necks, which at least assures one that death must have been swift and sure.

NOWADAYS such violent measures to overthrow governments do not meet with popular support, at least not in British countries. In Spain there is a reversion to old day conditions in the civil war now proceeding. In British countries there may be mass meetings of indignation, and Fascists and Communists may clash occasionally; but it has been found that the liberty of free speech as permitted in British countries is the best safety valve for hotheads, and the worst that has happened have been marches to government buildings and the "On to Ottawa" trek a couple of years ago, which was halted at Regina after a few heads had been cracked and a life lost.

HERE IN Alberta there have been threats to march to Edmonton to find when the Social Credit dividend is to be paid. In Calgary it is reported the unemployed planned to march to the Prophetic Bible Institute to place their case before Mr. Aberhart, but he has not been there for two weeks so the march was abandoned. As long as men are permitted to state their case and take orderly steps to effect a remedy, violence is averted.

DISSATISFACTION has been expressed by many unemployed because they were told early in the year that all unemployed in Alberta would be put to work. Figures indicate that there has been a steady increase in unemployed and cities particularly will be faced with a very serious problem this winter. The premier states his plans for distributing Social Credit dividends must be further delayed, so that what the people were told over a year ago would be a comparatively simple matter of giving them $25 a month is proving more elusive as the weeks go by. The truth is that it cannot be done without taking from those who produce. In recent years dividends in the form of relief have been paid out to the tune of millions, which the taxpayers are paying. Social Credit dividends if ever paid must be provided in exactly the same way—take from the producers and give to the non-producers or unemployed. This dream of creating credits and Social Credit banks without capital is just a flight of fancy. As one writer stated, you create a plan, and make it so incomprehensible that no person can understand it; then nobody can prove it is wrong.

IT IS SURPRISING that every Remembrance Day there arises the question—will business houses close? This does not apply to Coleman but to larger places. What does it matter in the sum total of things to close for one day; yet how large a part it plays in honoring the memory of men who counted not the sacrifice, even to life itself. So when business houses start quibbling over whether they will close or remain open, it seems mean and paltry indeed. There should never be the least doubt in a matter of this kind.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S New Deal platform sweeps the States, a generally foregone conclusion, despite the straw vote of the Literary Digest. Yet there is a big day of reckoning coming for all the extravagance which his policy involves. It is popular among politicians aiming to catch the popular vote to promise and promise, but there comes a day when someone has to do the paying. It is usually the thrifty who pay, for the others haven't anything to pay.

A FEW YEARS AGO when the first effort was being made to have an airfield laid out here, there were some who viewed the move with pessimistic skepticism. It was that spark of interest which led aviation department officials to locate a real field west of town, without a cent of cost locally and which in addition provided employment for many. Many cities and towns would regard such an airfield as an important and valuable asset, which it really is. Its cost will likely run into $100,000 when completed. For experimental radio work there is equipment costing $15,000 now being used at the western approach to the field. It puts Coleman on the air map, and with development of air transportation, this town has a golden opportunity to become a central point for air travel originating in Pass towns. What is needed now is the name COLEMAN painted in large letters on the roof of the school as a guide to air travellers.

Palace Theatre Notes

Features at the PALACE for the coming week include "Private Number" with Loretta Young, Robt. Taylor and Patsy Kelly. This feature to be shown Saturday and Monday. Tuesday and Wednesday brings a double program, Bette Davis and George Brent in "The Golden Arrow," and Pat O'Brien in "China Clipper," a thrilling story of aviation's conquest of the Pacific. A double program is also shown Thursday and Friday, when Ginger Rogers, ably supported by Norman Foster, Zazu Pitts and Frank McHugh, shows the private life of a radio star in "Professional Sweetheart," the second feature stars Claire Trevor in "15 Maiden Lane."

Sale of Vetcraft poppies on Saturday totalled nearly $100. Those who did not purchase will have an opportunity on Remembrance Day, when they will be on sale. The profits are used for disabled soldiers.

A truck driven by a Creston rancher collided with the rear end of a truck owned by Sam Sagoff of Coleman on Wednesday afternoon near Sam's Service station. It was reported that the Sagoff truck, heavily loaded with timber, stopped unexpectedly and the B. C. truck, though going at a moderate speed, with swift application of the brakes skidded into the rear of the Sagoff truck, destroying the radiator and damaging the front fenders. Repairs are being made to the B. C. truck at Sentinel Motors.

Protect Your Hard Earned Savings

In Alberta and throughout Canada, life insurance policyholders and beneficiaries should realize the menace to their own and the national welfare that lies in extreme and unjust legislation.

These policyholders represent 50 per cent of the electors—federal and provincial. Through the institution of life insurance, they have so pooled their resources that their collective interest can withstand attacks that would bring financial disaster to the individual.

Despite war, epidemic, panic and depression, life insurance has met every policy obligation promptly and in full.

Despite the financial disturbance for the past six years, it has distributed, and continues to distribute, to its policyholders and beneficiaries, over $500,000 every working day.

Seventy-five per cent of this money has been, and continues to be, paid to living policyholders; the balance to the beneficiaries.

Life insurance is the greatest co-operative business in Canada. No one doubts its strength and stability. No one questions the prudent and intelligent direction of its affairs.

It is the guardian of the hard-earned savings of 3,500,000 men and women in all walks of life.

Today there are forces in Canada that menace the welfare of these people. These forces would penalize their savings and impair their investments through legislation which cancels public and private debts—regardless of the debtor's ability to pay—and which tends to destroy the ownership of public and private property.

The interests of life insurance policyholders and beneficiaries—as of all other citizens whose savings are invested in one form or another in Canada—demand that promises to pay be observed, when the debtor is able to pay, that hard earned savings which safeguard the homes and families of the Dominion be protected from unjust legislation.

The United Church

Despite wintry weather there was an encouraging attendance at both services. There were nearly 50 communicants at the morning service.

In the church school a junior class has been divided owing to its size. Miss Gladys Higginbotham and Miss Winnifred Dunlop are now teaching in the school.

A C.G.I.T. group is ready for organization and a Young Women's Circle of the Women's Missionary Society is being formed.

Services at the regular hours on Sunday. Members and friends are asked to remember the Evangelization of Canada movement and our hope as a congregation we may return with deeper devotion to the responsibilities resting upon Christian people.

"The Words of the Lord Jesus" are still the topic for the morning services.

The Salvation Army

A Young People's surprise program will be given on Friday, at 4 p.m. A meeting at 8 p.m. will be addressed by Envoy Frayne and Lieut. Mattison. The Fernie band will be in attendance under the leadership of Captain Frewing.

Sunday at 7.30 p.m. the meeting will be addressed by Envoy Frayne, Carl Frayne and Lieut. Mattison. Music by Blairmore church orchestra.

Monday at 8 p.m. "Grand Finale"; "The School of the Prophets" will be the subject of an address to be given by Lieut. Mattison.

YOU Share In Canada's Greatest Co-Operative Business

LIFE INSURANCE is the greatest co-operative business in Canada. As a policyholder, YOU are associated with more than 3,500,000 other Canadians in this great enterprise.

Every business day last year Life Insurance Companies in Canada distributed, to Canadian policyholders and beneficiaries, over Half a Million Dollars.

Life Insurance enables YOU to provide financial security for yourself and family. It also benefits the country as a whole through the investment of Life Insurance funds in important public enterprises.

Life Insurance dollars give employment to workers throughout the Dominion. Transportation facilities are extended, highways built, streets paved, schools erected, water, sewage and other necessary works constructed. Life Insurance dollars help to finance the farmer, and bring business to the general store and country merchant.

In the past five years of business depression, Canadian policyholders and beneficiaries received over Eight Hundred Million Dollars in payments from their Life Insurance funds. Life Insurance Companies have fulfilled every obligation one hundred cents on the dollar.

As a policyholder, YOU can take justifiable pride in sharing in this, the greatest co-operative business in Canada.

Family life in the small town is centered about the home. Anything that pertains to the food, clothing and shelter of the family is a lively topic for family discussion.

When the home is to be painted, the kind of paint, the color, the number of coats, who shall do the work, the experience of neighbors—all this is talked over in detail by all the members of the family.

When the work is started it is again a matter for discussion. More important, it is going to be discussed with local dealers who are going to suggest the products whose manufacturers assist them most in local selling.

Such careful planning in all matters concerning the home affords national advertisers a golden opportunity. Your advertisement in the home town paper not only attracts the readers of the paper, but it is a definite boost which every wide-awake retailer will use.

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

Death rate from tuberculosis has been cut in two in Ontario, Hon. Dr. J. A. Faulkner, Ontario minister of health, told a Peterborough service club.

A claw for the front of police automobiles has been invented by a famous English automobile racing driver to aid in the capture of criminals fleeing in cars.

A machine that tests 300 eggs an hour for quality and grades them by weight was on show recently at the Grocers' Exhibition at Royal Agricultural Hall at London.

Thomas Bryson, 93, the oldest foreign missionary in China, died at Tientsin recently. He went to China from Edinburgh in 1866 in a tea clipper which required 150 days to make the voyage.

Word reached Yorkton to the effect that Dr. Joe Heaslip, who at one time in his career practiced medicine there and in Manville, Alta., has been appointed medical officer in the Guelph, Ont., reformatory.

Officials of the Northern Alberta railways estimated that 3,500,000 bushels of grain, mostly wheat and with an estimated value of $2,500,000 had been marketed already this season by farmers in northern Alberta.

Just 145 years ago a man who couldn't sleep nights sent $3 to the United States treasury. Since then many remorseful citizens have followed his example, until to date the treasury ledgers showed $624,113.70, all credit to the people's conscience.

Application of the Central Alberta Dairy Pool, Limited, and the Sunny Alberta Creameries, Limited, for a reduction in the freight rates on butter in carloads, from Alx, Alta., and Red Deer, Alta., to Vancouver was dismissed in a judgment of the Board of Railway Commissioners.

New Garden Methods

Scientists Predict That Vegetables Can Be Grown In Chemical Tanks

A world of tomorrow in which families will raise their own vegetables from chemical tanks instead of gardens, getting a year's supply at the present monthly cost, was visualized by Arthur C. Pillsbury, scientist.

Pillsbury, also a naturalist, inventor, explorer, author and lecturer, said soil-less tank experiments had indicated a tenfold increase in vegetable production.

"Although the idea is not new, recent experiments have led scientists to believe that vegetables can be grown commercially in shallow tanks, partly filled with water, in which all the necessary soil requirements have been mixed," Pillsbury said.

"In one instance shallow-tank-grown potatoes produced between two and three thousand bushels to the acre compared with a United States average of 104 bushels."

Scientist Has New Theory

Believes Rust Will Some Day End All Life On Earth

A leading man of science says the earth may one day rust to death, ending all life on the planet.

Writing for the Smithsonian Institute, Dr. Henry Norris Russell described how the air's oxygen is slowly depleted by oxidizing (rusting) of iron in rocks.

"Given time enough," he said, "this inexorable process of rock decay might exhaust the remaining oxygen of our atmosphere and put an end to all that breathes."

Dr. Russell figured the end would not arrive for a billion years or more.

Between $3,000,000,000 and $8,000,000,000 is expended annually by Americans in foreign and domestic lotteries, numbers games, etc.

The Best News Medium

Writer Tells Why Newspaper More Satisfactory Than Radio

Charles McIntyre, in Printer and Publisher, says:

You can't put a radio broadcast in your pocket and read it at your leisure.

You can't save a clipping from a radio broadcast.

You can't skip it in a radio broadcast. You can't cut out the beauty hints and turn to the baseball scores.

You can't stop listening to answer the phone and go back to the radio without missing something.

You can't skim the news in six minutes with your toast and coffee in the morning and get an idea what is going on around the world.

You can't get a line on the stock market when you have only three minutes to spare.

Of course, your newspaper has limitations also. You can't put a song and dance and some bum jokes in your newspaper and get paid for them at high rates.

You can't get your clients to accept as your circulation every person in the community who can read.

You can't tell your readers at exactly what time they are going to read your newspaper or not at all and make them like it.

Also (and this is a deep one) you are not smart enough to get your chief competitor to advertise your medium for nothing.

The Bay Route

Want Ships To Be Equipped With Gyro Compass

Revision of shipping regulations to prevent ships entering Hudson Bay unless they are equipped with a gyro compass was urged upon Hon. C. D. Howe, federal minister of transport and marine, by the Saskatchewan government. Mr. Howe intimated that such changes would have to be implemented by the Imperial Shipping Board, of which the Canadian high commissioner is a member. Although the insurance of a gyro compass equipped boats is lower than on others, there is not sufficient difference to prevent boats from entering the bay, Hon. T. C. Davis said.

He contended that while the Avon River, which recently grounded on the rocks in Horton Strait, must trouble because of engine trouble, nevertheless, had the boat been equipped with a gyro compass it would not have been so close to the rocks when it encountered trouble.

He claimed, too, that the boat was one which had been out of service for a long time and was not in proper condition to try the trip.

Predicts World War

Visitor Looks For Hostilities Within Two Years

Another world war within two years was predicted by Emil Ludwig, German-Jewish biographer, who arrived from South America with his wife.

Asked if he meant conflict between Fascist and Communist nations, Ludwig waved a hand, waved away the political labels.

"It is no longer Communism and Fascism," he said. "You have no much of state Socialism in Berlin and Rome that one can no longer use the differentiating terms."

"No, war will come because there are two conflicting philosophies in the world. It will come just as it did in the days of the religious wars in Europe. It will come because there are the aggressive and defensive nations. They will fight."

New Fire Extinguisher

Firemen responding to an alarm which reported an automobile ablaze on a highway near Mission, Texas, found the fire out when they reached the car and the motor spattered liberally with the dripping remains of ripe tomatoes.

The driver explained that a farmer drove by, saw his predicament and offered the tomatoes as fire extinguishers. The men stood off and bombarded the blazing engine, putting out the fire in a few minutes.

Crashing into the Solent and tearing off his plane undercarriage, a Royal Air Force pilot managed to clear and make a perfect landing unscathed at the aerodrome in Gosport, England.

Have Great Many Uses

Old Automobile Tires Come In Handy Around The Farm

Old automobile tires play an important part in Australia's farming life. They are reincarnated into an endless variety of useful objects.

There is hardly a farm in central Australia which does not possess its old-tire stock ready for transformation by its resourceful owners. The men make "yoo-yangs" from circular strips from inner tubes. These are worn around the trousers, below the knee, in approved bush fashion, to keep out dust from the plow, and are becoming popular with the girls who use them for garters—suitably covered with colored ribbons. Some farmers find that sections cut from a tire make excellent brake leathers for their carts.

Old tires are almost universally used to resole boots. Braces, belts and even handbags made of inner tubes are considered correct in the "outbreak," and almost everlasting leggings are also made from them.

Inner tubes also prove handy for making collapsible buckets, and rifle cases. They are also invaluable as water-tight carriers for carrying the mail from the letter boxes, which are often as much as a quarter of a mile away from the farm buildings in Australia, in a rain storm.

Inventions Of The Future

Experts Have Visions Of Cornob Equipments With Zippers

Speculating on the wonders of the future, United States government experts who spend their time examining agricultural patents have envisioned:

Corn on the cob equipped with zippers; bananas flourishing in Maine; grapefruit that automatically squeezes itself; seeds that sprout before breakfast, produce ripe vegetables for dinner, and trees that spring from acorns in a year.

"All of these fancies seem impossible at present," said a patent office statement, "but not necessarily any more so than the aeroplanes or radio would have seemed to the examiners on 1836 when the present system of industrial patents was established."

Patents on plants were legalized six years ago and have multiplied like garden weeds in spring rains. More than 1,000 applications have been received for patents on vegetables, fruits, flowers and trees.

Approximately 200 have been issued for such things as raspberries, carnations, grass for golf greens and water lilies.

Prison Reform

Canadian Penal System Under One Authority Is Suggested

Centralization of the Canadian penal system under one authority was suggested in a brief submitted by the Halifax branch of the Prisoners' Welfare Association to the royal commission investigating penal conditions.

The association recommended reduction of minimum sentence to the penitentiary from two years to one. There should be application of the League of Nations standard minimum rules in provincial and municipal as well as federal penal institutions, the brief said.

It suggested limiting to 500 the number of convicts in any penitentiary; graduation of status of penitentiaries; visiting committees with advisory functions and technical training for prison officials.

Must Learn Housekeeping

German Girls Require Certificate Before Taking Other Training

The Ministry of Women of the Reich is sometimes described by German women outside the home frontiers as a sort of conscription for domestic training. Part of its work is to see that every class become proficient in household duties, and before taking up any other training must possess a domestic proficiency certificate. At present some 12,000 families are training elementary school girls of 13, under government supervision; these girls have six marks a month pocket money and in their off time must attend a lesson at their nearest domestic training college. Government service is barred to the girl who cannot first qualify domestically.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Riser to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food does not digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body and you feel sour, sick and the world looks pink.

A new bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes Liver Pills, and Carter's Little Liver Pills to get the bile flowing. They make you feel better, make the bile flow freely. They do the work. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Don't substitute anything else. See.

Chinese Are Honest

Always Carry Out Oral Contract In Letter And Spirit

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

NOVEMBER 8

THE CHRISTIAN WARFARE

Golden text: Be strong in the Lord, and in the strength of his might. Ephesians 6:10. Lesson: Acts 19; Ephesians 6:10-21. Devotional reading: II. Corinthians 1:3-11.

Explanations And Comments

The Christian Warfare, Ephesians 6:10-12. To be a Christian is to be a soldier engaged in warfare against evil, and the strength for the fight comes from God. To be victorious the Christian must put on the whole armor of God, all that God provides for his overcoming, there must be no part lacking. It is not with mere man that we have to contend, Paul asserts; our antagonists are principalities, powers, world-rulers of darkness, spiritual hosts of wickedness in heavenly places.

The Equipment of the Christian Soldier, Ephesians 6:13-18. "The days are evil," Paul has said in 5:16; now he counsels his readers to withstand "in the evil day" by taking up the whole armor of God. Paul refers to the whole earthly pilgrimage as an evil time that demands constant, vigilant fighting. Stand therefore! Stubborn, unwavering resistance will win for battle. Nothing short of the whole armor will suffice in this conflict.

In addition, you must take up the shield of faith, that is, a strong trust in God's protecting and saving grace, wherewith you shall be able to quench all the fiery darts of the evil one.

And take the helmet of salvation. The assurance that we are now saved and are being kept by the power of God will be our sure protection, like the gleaming crested helmet which covered the head of the triumphant warrior. All this spiritual armor mentioned by the apostle was for purposes of defense. The one weapon of offense he now names. It will suffice. There is need of no other. It is the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God. The gospel message placed in the hands of the Christian warrior shall be firmly grasped and used with skill. All the truth revealed in Christ will be of precious value in the spiritual conflict" (C. R. Erdman).

But all the equipment mentioned is not enough, it must be reinforced by prayer, vigilant, persistent prayer: "The greatest thing anybody can do is to pray. It is the only thing, but it is the chief thing. When the Holy Spirit touches a man's heart and life anew, he always breathes a sort, burning passion into his heart—he draws a man aside into the prayer-place, the secret place of his life in touch with God. As he leads a man to find out that, that all the rest of the life grows out of prayer—the serving and the doing, all we are and all we attempt to do, grow out of touch with God" (S. D. Gordon).

Teacher: "Now, Robert, what are you doing? Learning something?" Robert: "No sir, I'm listening to you."

If You Have a Child ASK YOUR DOCTOR THIS

Ask Him Before Giving Your Child an Unknown Remedy

Practically any doctor you ask will warn you: "Don't give your child unknown remedies without asking your doctor first."

When it comes to the widely used children's remedy — "milk of magnesia," the standard of the world is established. For over half a century many doctors have said "PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia." Safe for children. No other is "quite like it."

Keep this in mind, and say "PHILLIPS' MILK OF MAGNESIA" when you buy. Now also in tablet form. Get the form you prefer. But see that what you get is labeled "Genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia."

Also in tablet form: Each tiny tablet is the equivalent of a teaspoonful of the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

Russia Wants Pedigree Sheep

Agents Are In England Buying Them For Export

Soviet agents are very active in Lincolnshire just now, making purchases of pedigree long wool sheep for export to Russia.

Practically all the rams which breeders are able to offer have been taken by the buyers, who state the demand is likely to continue for some years to come.

The sheep are destined for introduction into the big Russian flock in an effort to increase the amount and quality of the wool.

Describing the method adopted by the stock experts who are making the purchases, a leading Lincolnshire breeder stated that a blood test of the sheep offered was being made in every case.

"Once they are assured that the stock offered is of good stamina and sound pedigree, the Russians are generous buyers," he added. "They take sheep on a larger scale than I have ever known before."

Bird Was Passenger

Humming Bird Killed When Gooses Is Shot In B.C.

A hunter's shot that killed a Canada goose at Williams Lake, B.C., also killed a passenger—a humming bird travelling south in a soft warm berth of feathers of the larger bird.

Ornithologists say it is a common practice for humming birds to stow away in this fashion and frequently when the geese are brought down the small creatures dart away from their crushing al-diner.

A skilled "animator" is said to maintain an excellent average if he turns out from five to eight feet of animated cartoons in a day.

Interfering With Shipments

Spanish War Means Shortage Of Raisins From Valencia

The civil war in Spain is likely to have a disastrous effect on our Christmas puddings. Usually in September the first shipments of raisins are sent from Valencia, but this year, most of the crops have been destroyed by the marching armies and only very small supplies of the fruit will be available. It was reported that a small shipment had left Spain, but London Importers had no information about it. Even if the fruit is there it will be difficult, for shipping companies will not allow their vessels to enter Spanish ports.—Manchester Guardian.

Thou Shalt Not Love

— A NOVEL BY —
GEORGIA GRAIG

That was Starr Ellison's deadly fascination—the thousand and one contradictions in her volatile personality that made Michael Fairbourne certain that it had been nothing less than inspiration which had led him to connect that story about her having Egyptian princess ancestry. He was probably right, without having known it, except by inspiration. If truth were told, she probably had come straight down in a direct line from the sirens of all sirens. It would not have been hard to persuade Michael that Cleopatra herself had sent along her blood—and her allure—through the centuries to the girl-woman who called herself Starr Ellison.

Michael stared down the long room at Lance Marlowe's guests. In the group clustered near the flickering fire on the hearth Starr was almost hidden by the men who surrounded her. Moths Stephanie called them. And Michael Fairbourne realized suddenly, with an attempt at mental castigation, that he was no better than the rest. He felt an uncontrollable impulse to follow wherever she went. But he had no intention of joining that crowd. He would not. At least he could keep his self-respect to that extent. So he remained on the fringe, a dark and angry mood, watching.

The group parted when someone called for fresh cocktails, and Michael saw Starr. Her exotic beauty was like a flame. She was wearing a startling costume this day—which was Russian in effect. It was all black and scarlet with little bands of fur around the throat. She carried a ridiculous little black muff of the same astrakhan that appeared to serve her for gesturing purposes as well as the fan for a Spanish woman, or any of the well known props. Her dusky cloud of hair, beneath a tiny scarlet hat, fell almost to her shoulders.

No one but Starr Ellison would have dared wear an outfit like that, and she knew it. Her clothes were as breath-taking as her conduct. She long since had got out of hand with Michael who at first had considered it his duty to take her shopping. Starr had ideas of her own, and she had no doubt that she was right. He could pay the bill—and did—but hers was the selection.

Her eyes met Michael's, and they held each other's for a strange, long moment. The girl who was the toast of a city, and the man who had made her what she was. They had not spoken to each other intimately since their flare-up in the ballroom at Pierre's the night of Starr's debut, just about two weeks before. No longer did Michael come to the penthouse apartment and the living room with the mumbly windows for consultations or intimacies that. That was all over. Their meetings since the party had been but few, and those had been tinged with brittle sarcasm and deadly barbs of caustic wit. Their defiance against each other left steel daggers always drawn, just beneath the surface. Not even an armed truce. That one long look from gray eyes to black. . . Suddenly Starr left her little group of satellites. A freakish impulse led her to Michael. A provocative slant of those deep-fringed eyes swept the tall, stern-faced man. She stood in front of him, her black eyes lifted to his face. She said suddenly:

"You're elected to take me home, Has—Michael!"

A stiffness crept over his big frame.

"May I ask why?" he said, his tone itself challenging.

Starr said insolently: "Because you're the most miserable-looking man present, and you need thawing out." She spread her hands and laughed. "Besides, everybody else is tight, and some of them might have the idea they could drive."

When he did not reply directly, the Imperious "Play-Grid" commanded: "Hurry! I've barely enough time to get home and slip into a bath and some sort of a dress for Ted Bang's party at the Mayfair tonight."

Neither of them had noticed Lance Marlowe saunter up, but the ever-present Lance suggested in his smooth voice:

"Why go home? You can dress here, Starr."

A ripple of amusement greeted his words. Starr did not seem to mind the amusement. She favored Lance with one of her mysterious smiles.

Headache
YOU'VE FINISHED DRESSING

In 2 seconds by dropping each Aspirin tablet into a glass of water, drop an Aspirin tablet into a glass of water, and the time it takes the bottom of the glass is the time it takes the headache to disappear. What happens in this glass . . . happens in your stomach.

When you wake up with a headache, do this: Take two quick-acting, quick-dissolving "ASPIRIN" tablets with a little water. By the time you've finished dressing, nine chances in ten, you'll feel relief coming.

"Aspirin" provides this quick relief because it is rated among the quickest methods for relief of headache. "Aspirin" tablets are made in Canada. "Aspirin" is the registered trademark of the Bayer Company, Limited, of Windsor, Ontario. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on a white tablet.

Michael quivered suddenly with black rage. He had not misread the obvious. For Starr to change, to serve him, certainly meant that there would be here something more for her to dress in than Lance Marlowe's pajamas. Why? Was it true, then, what people were whispering about her? Why should she have a wardrobe, or any part of it, here? How many times had she stayed here with Lance?

He burst out savagely: "You can keep your accommodations, Marlow. I'll take her home." Lance's thin eyebrows rose. "All in fun, Mike, old chap—Don't get the kind of up."

And immediately Michael Fairbourne was conscious of having made a transcendental act of himself, by being serious when everybody else in the place was ragging. The ripple of amusement grew to a chorus which died in his ears. Michael clenched his fist. Starr was laughing more amusedly than any of them.

Michael was glum and silent as they rode down in the elevator. In silence he helped her into his rooster, got in and jammed down the starter. Starr leaned back against the upholstery and snuggled down comfortably in her seat, but her heart was doing a queer little kind of pounding dance. From the corner of her eyes she glanced toward the clean-cut profile of the man beside her, admiring, in spite of all the will power she could bring to bear on that subject, the cut of his lean, strongly molded, set jaw; his firm, tanned features. Why did he have to be so unreasonably attractive?

"Don't be more of an idiot than you can help," she was telling herself sternly. "This is a business arrangement, and you certainly ought to know it by now."

But even as she watched every play of his features, saw the keenness of his gray eyes as they were set on the traffic, in her heart was one full thought. If only things could be different!

Just looking at him gripped a pain around her heart that had never been there once in her life before she had met him. He was so alive and carelessly masterful and different. In spite of the way he had acted as far as she was concerned, she could not force it from her mind that he was basically finer, more honorable, than any of the rest of that set he played around with. Certainly he was the only one who, so far, had not allowed the "mysterious" "Play-Grid" to take him around her little affairs whenever she chose. And that had been her whole intention.

Michael was still silent—furiously so. He cut his way through the gathering dusk and the maze of traffic with vivacious speed.

For a second Starr closed her eyes. Her delicate cameo profile was so white, except for the too-bright coloring of her defiant young mouth. "And I am making you very rich, Michael-Hassan?"

It was the first time since the night of the debut party that she had mentioned their bargain.

He said stiffly, without moving his gaze from straight ahead: "In the last few days the sales of my book have jumped amazingly, thanks to you!"

"Thanks to my complete lack of reticence as regards the public airing of my love affairs, you mean?" she corrected him brazenly.

The line of his hard-gripped jaw was white.

"Start! How can you?"

Her red lips twisted ironically. That certainly was funny, coming from Michael Fairbourne—the man who had been so insistent in saying once: "All I ask is that you keep your name in the headlines—I don't care how."

Well, she had done that for him. The name was becoming as familiar to the reading public as the weather report. In just the short time since she had swept onto the New York horizon like a brilliant meteor, she had blazed her mad, reckless way through highly colored escapades which could not be ignored—these were not the accomplishments of what she had set out to do, too, as far as she herself was concerned. Her metamorphosis was complete. Starr Ellison was lost—she was all "Play-Grid." It had not taken long, and now she was pulling the strings. He was her puppet.

Michael was saying roughly: "What's happened to you, Starr Ellison? You've grown into something shallow, and unreal, like a lot of vivid color painted on glass!"

"Play-Grid" laughed. She echoed: "Vivid color painted on glass! How clever of you, Michael-Hassan. I must remember to tell that to Lance. He'll think it too divine and pass it around as he has passed that so-brilliant remark of mine about my insatiable appetite for bakshish!"

Suddenly his anger got the better of him. His eyes blazed as his hands tightened on the wheel until the knuckles showed white.

"Lance!" he spat out. "Look here, Starr, I never intended for you to carry out this thing this far. What I may have thought about you at first—well, I've changed my mind. . . Do you realize what people are hinting about you?"

And then Starr was angry, too. A dead, bitter anger. The supreme arrogance of the man! She flared: "What right have you to tell me where I shall start, and where I shall leave off? The only interest I keep my name before the public or not—that was distinctly your bargain! I'm doing that—plenty! I'll carry it all as far as I please! It's none of your business! Yes, I know what people are saying—that I am Lance's mistress!"

She turned to meet the full glare of his gray eyes as the speed of the car increased momentarily. She drawled impudently:

"Well, what do you think?"

Michael looked long at the veiled allure of her eyes, at the mocking insolence of her mouth. Then he studied the almost childlike curve of her white throat against the dark fur, and reflected on the everlasting contradiction of her, as if in very truth she were the alien type of another day which his own press work had made her in the eyes of the public.

He said hoarsely: "I don't know. I don't know what to think about you at all—in any way. I wish to heaven I did!"

All at once a hot flood of words fell on her ears.

"I know one thing about you! You're not the girl I thought you were when I first found you. . . If I'd had the faintest idea you were not, I'd never have let you in for this thing in a million years. I thought—I thought—well, never mind what. It just wasn't so, and if you'd ever loosened up maybe I'd know just why you were playing La Luna. . . Never mind that, either. What I do mind is now! What's happening to you these days? You're going crazy with a little feeding power and audacity. Don't you ever give a thought to your future? Have you considered what will become of you when all this has worn off?"

"I think you warned me once before that 'Play-Grid' would not last forever," said Starr placidly, and her delicate shoulders shrugged. "I'm not worrying."

"You should be! When 'Play-Grid' is finished, where will your fair-weather friends be then?—Lance Marlowe and all the rest? Your very actions now may forever ruin your chance for any real future happiness."

Unprecedented Flying

American Experiments may Lead To Using Super-Transport Planes

A revolutionary change in air transportation with gigantic liners speeding across the United States thousands of feet above the altitude attained by present commercial planes is presaged by experimental flights at Kansas City, Mo.

The tests are being conducted by Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc. The company is collecting scientific data regarding aeroplane performance, atmospheric conditions and the feasibility of operating schedules at drastically higher altitudes than are now common.

Such knowledge is to be embodied in the construction of a new super-transport plane designed for regular operation on the company's coast-to-coast route.

When completed, such planes are expected to be capable of unprecedented performance at altitudes lofty enough to prevent interference from weather disturbances closer to the earth's surface.

Capt. D. W. Tomlinson piloted a laboratory plane to an altitude of 30,000 feet in 30 minutes in a recent experimental flight. From a temperature of 110 degrees at the airport, Tomlinson reported a precipitate plunge of the mercury until it touched 18 degrees below zero at the peak of his climb.

Tomlinson hopes to reach 45,000 feet. At that height, greater efficiency in performance will be noticeable and additional data will be obtained, he believes.

New trips into the troposphere and stratosphere are planned. Accompanying Tomlinson on the flight is an engineer, who keeps a record of the apparatus being tested for altitude efficiency. Automatic camera equipment panel, and records on film the readings of all instruments at different altitudes.

The laboratory plane is equipped with heating and oxygen apparatus. Tomlinson wears a wire frame mask through which a small tube feeds him oxygen. A small microphone fastened to the mouthpiece of the mask enables him to report his progress from the plane by radio to a ground crew.

The Dead Sea

Modern Science Is Taking Out Valuable Chemicals From Its Waters

The Dead Sea, the strangest body of water in the world, is slowly coming to life again.

Lying 1,300 feet below the level of the Mediterranean, receiving an inflow of 6,000,000 tons of water daily from the River Jordan, without an outlet, the sea has puzzled archaeologists and geologists for centuries.

To-day, where once Sodom and Gomorrah stood, where David took refuge, where Herod and Marianne died when the Parthians captured Jerusalem in 42 B.C., modern science is taking out potash and bromine—the Dead Sea area is alive with activity.

Once barren and thought useless, the sea's shoreline is now ringing with the sound of hammers as a new potash works, with a 39,000-ton capacity annually, has brought on a bustling boom.

Heard of up by British capital, in and around the Dead Sea, are bringing thousands of visitors to the sea each winter, and homes and work buildings are springing up.

Great Britain is closely watching potash processes, the Dead Sea is a great source of potash and bromine for various uses.

By contrast to ordinary ocean water, which contains from four to six per cent. salts, the Dead Sea contains 25 per cent. No animal life is able to live in its waters, and very little vegetable life.

The evaporation from the sea, its only outlet from the heavy inflow, causes strange-looking blue-white clouds to float overhead, giving it a fantastic scene from a distance.

The Cattle Know

An interesting little ceremony takes place every summer evening in an English town near Berwick-on-Tweed. A lad blows a horn on the village green at Church Yetholm, whereupon all the cattle from all the grazing and around the town surround him unattended. Each knows its own farm and barn and walks straight into them.

The Alpine Alpine swif, during the course of a morning's feeding, often wanders 50 miles or more from its nightly resting place.

Little Helps For This Week

I will hear what God the Lord will speak; for He will speak peace unto His people. Psalm 85:8.

There is a voice, a still small voice of love, Heard from above; But not amidst the din of earthly sounds; By those withdrawn apart it best is heard. And peace is breathed from every gentle word.

He speaks, but it is with us to hearken or not. It is everything not to turn away the ear, to be willing to hearken, not to drown His voice. "The secret of the Lord is with them that fear Him." It is a secret voice, a still small voice, whispering to the inner ear. How can we hear it if we fill our ears and our hearts with the din of this world, its empty tumult, its excitement and anxieties, and its whirl of emptiness?

Necessity For Defence

Must Take Necessary Steps To Safeguard Our Heritage

"We are living in a fool's paradise if we think we can occupy half a continent, rich in vast resources, with only 10,000,000 people without our requiring sufficient physical protection to safeguard our heritage," Col. Harry S. Hamilton, K.C., Liberal M.P. for Exeter, wrote to a local service club at Sault Ste. Marie as he urged the necessity of Canada protecting herself in an "expansion mad" world.

Canada needs a better defence policy and Canadian people must be awakened to this necessity, he declared Col. Hamilton, first member of the Canadian expeditionary forces to be wounded in the Great War.

$500,000 A Day

Every business day last year policyholders and beneficiaries of life insurance companies operating in Canada received over half-a-million dollars. Seventy-five per cent of this money went to living persons.

There could be no more striking indication of the democratic character and far-reaching influence of this the greatest co-operative business in the Dominion.

It represents 3,500,000 men and women—half the adult population of the Dominion—half the electorate, federal and provincial.

Through their hard-earned savings, Canadian life insurance policyholders and beneficiaries have created an estate of over six billion dollars and have assets invested in the Dominion of over two billion dollars.

These funds, invested in bonds and mortgages in every province and municipality in Canada, promote national development, provide employment throughout the Dominion, help homes and farms and bring business to the general store and country merchant.
